VIVACIOUS GRADUAND - Rhonda Quinney and escort take part in the Grand March at Frog Lake School Honor Night '95.

Frog Lake grads flying on their own

By Cathy Weetman

Staff Writer

A total of five grade 12 graduates and 12 grade nine promees prepared to go flying on their own at Frog Lake Napewaw School's Honor Night '95.

For the occasion, the school's auditorium was transformed into a ballroom atmosphere with the addition of thousands of silver, lilac and purple streamers and balloons.

The grads, promees and their escorts began the evening's festivities with the Grand March, accompanied by the Ancestor Song.

The grade 12 graduands were: Jolene Quinney, Adrian Quinney, Wayne Faithful, Albert Berland and Rhonda Quinney.

The grade 9 promees were: Richard Berland, Noella Cardinal, Cody Cross, Keith Faithful, Paul Fryngpan, Clarence Moyah, Samantha Paul, Ferlin Quinney, John Quinney, Stewart Quinney, William Quinney and Laurelle Singer.

Following the Grand March, Principal Karen Jorritsma, who is leaving after 14 years at the school, congratulated the grads and advised them to value their education because it gives them independence, self-esteem, responsibility, creativity and the joy of helping others.

Education Director Clarence Faithful also wished the grads all the best in the future and what this world has to offer.

A presentation of a farewell plaque on behalf of the school to Jorritsma followed, and a poem entitled, "Ode to a Departing Principal" was read in her honor.

Blessing of the meal was performed by the Elders in attendance, and a number of toasts were made following the banquet. Mr. Charles Singer had the honor of performing the Toast to the Grads, with a reply by Wayne Faithful. The Toast to the Parents was given by Albert Berland, with a reply by Norman C. Quinney and a Toast to the Staff was given by Stuart Quinney, with a reply by Mrs. Marguerite Miller.

In keeping with the grad theme of "Flying

Grey makes an Elk Point stop on Constituency tour

By Wendell Katerenchuk

Staff Writer

Deborah Grey spoke to a group of about 25 attentive people at the Elk Point Seniors Recreation Center on Wednesday at 7 p.m. The visit was part of Grey's semi-annual tour of her Beaver River constituency.

"I do a tour twice a year to see what people are thinking and to give you an update on Ottawa happenings," said Grey.

Two main items that Grey felt would be of interest to her constituents were gun control and the MP Pension Plan.

Grey started by pointing out that the proposed gun control legislation, Bill C-68, had passed second reading in the House of Commons and that the government was hearing witnesses regarding the bill.

"They are only hearing the [witnesses] they want to hear."

Grey cautioned listeners that the legislation carries with it uncertainties and perhaps hidden dangers. Once a bill has been passed by both Commons and the Senate, and has received Royal Assent, the actual enactment of the legislation is done through Orders In Council. In this stage the government has virtually no responsibility for accountability.

Grey believed that there were few blocks to the actual passing of the legislation. She pointed out that the Liberal Caucus was being kept in line on the issue by citing the three MPs who were stripped of their committee responsibilities after voting against the Bill in second reading. Grey did not think that the Senate would stop Bill C-68 either.

Grey does not support Bill C-68 because she feels that registration will not eliminate or appreciably affect crime.

"People who are making their living off of crime won't register. Why are we attacking reasonable, law abiding, responsible gun owners?"

The next item of concern for Grey was the MP Pension Plan. Bill C-85 proposes to change the plan so that former MPs can only collect once they reach age 55. The Government has also taken actions to stop "double dipping" (the practice of collecting MP pension and some other Federal salary).

The Federal contribution to pensions has also dropped from about $6 to about $ 3.61 for every $1 that a MP pays. This is meant to be indicative of positive reforms.

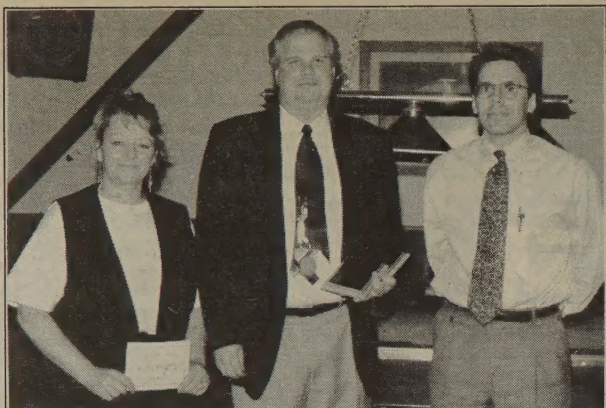

Grey was quick to point out that the contribution ratio has changed primarily because of the change in the demographics of MPs in the House after the last election.

The Government is also introducing an option that would allow an MP to opt out of the pension plan. This option would be limited to Members who had served as MPs less than six years as of October 25, 1993. These MPs could unconditionally refuse to participate in the Pension Plan.

MPs who had served more than six years as of October 25, 1993 could not waive their established pensions, but they could refuse to participate in the new Plan. The opting out option would only be available for 60 days after the Bill is passed, after which the option would be closed forever.

Grey feels that the changes to the Policy are insufficient and that the opting out section does not address the real concerns of long-term fiscal responsibility.

Grey makes Elk Point stop

Brief mention was made of Bill C-41, an omnibus bill about hate crimes and hate thought. The bill would include specific protections for people vis a vis sexual orientation. Grey feels that this should be avoided because it moves in the direction of enshrining special status rights for interest groups.

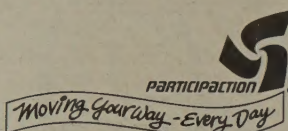

"Everybody is protected by the Human Rights Act and the Charter (of Rights and Freedoms) as an individual. Special protections are not needed," said Grey.

When asked about rumors about a possible merger of the Reform Party and the Progressive Conservative Party, Grey said, "I know nothing about that."

"I have no interest whatsoever in serving in a [Reform-Conservative] coalition under Jean Charest."

The evening concluded with Grey hearing and responding to questions and comments from the crowd.

Seniors have a lot to give the community

The tremendous contributions that seniors have made in the past and continue to make in our communities is being recognized in the 10th Annual Seniors' Week, June 4 to 10. A number of activities are being planned to acknowledge the contributions that seniors make in Elk Point.

It is not on a basis of one's number of years on the earth that seniors are accorded special recognition and respect, but because of their efforts in raising families, pursuing a vocation, supporting the churches, fighting the country's enemies, participating in many organizations, and through insight and maturity gained through many life experiences.

Also, it is becoming increasingly clear that far from being relegated to society's margins, seniors play a major role and will do so even more in the future.

In part, this is due to demographic factors. According to provincial government statistics, about 9% of Albertans are now 65 years of age or older. That proportion will grow to almost 10% by 1996, reach 14% by 2016, and continue to increase until the year 2031, when they will comprise 20% of the population.

During this period, seniors are bound to make themselves increasingly felt in society, both as citizens and individuals.

Most seniors, especially those in the 65 to 74 age group, are in good health and live on their own. They are active, interested people in charge of their own lives.

Studies have shown, for instance, that older people as a group tend to read more, are more interested in political affairs, and are more likely to vote than other societal groups, a fact that no doubt is of interest to elected officials and would-be elected officials.

Another significant factor is the financial clout of the senior population. On a per capita basis, they account for three times as much spending as younger people.

As a result, we can expect to see many more products and services directed specifically at the senior market, something which has already begun.

But the importance of Seniors' Week should increase our awareness of the strength, resourcefulness, efforts and achievements of individual seniors themselves, past, present and future.

Season of success

With two weeks of commencement ceremonies behind us and another coming up this weekend, this must surely be the season when successes are celebrated more than any other time of year.

In years past, we have heard arguments that this sort of celebration should be left until the results of final exams are in, and that only people who will walk away with a high school diploma or a matriculation should be privileged to take part. Fortunately, that is a trend which, at least in our area, went the way of the dodo.

These young people have worked together and played together, in many cases for as many as 13 years. Therefore it is only fitting that they celebrate together as their school years draw to an end. Some of these students will be back in their high school desks next fall, trying again to get those elusive last few credits, but it's almost certain that, given the choice, they would prefer to share the spotlight with the students they have gone to classes with for all those years rather than with next year's class, whom they may in fact still think of as 'the little kids' who followed in their footsteps.

The new trend to presenting the senior class, or having another event which honors everyone, whether they will make it through the Departmentals or not, is a good thing. It doesn't differentiate between those who will win awards and scholarships, those who will squeak by, and those who may not make the grade this year. The Grade 12s will all be equal up there, receiving recognition for the years they have spent in the classroom as they prepare to face whatever comes next in their lives - college, work, or more high school.

The years from kindergarten to Grade 12 have made up more than two thirds of these people's lives. Is it any wonder that they want to mark this time of passing into the adult world, with their fellow travellers along the academic highway?

Congratulations to all those who make up the Class of 1995 in all schools in our area. We're proud of you.

AND THE BAND PLAYED ON - F. G. Miller High School Bands took their music to Mural Park last week for their Spring Concert, which was much enjoyed in this unique setting on a lovely summer evening. Watch for further concert coverage next week. Photo by Billie Milholland.

Working on county roads

By Wendell Katerenchuk
Staff Writer

The coming of spring means increased traffic on county roads. Farm machinery and increased traffic in general causes wear and tear on all the roads in the area.

Leo deMoissac, the Public Works Superintendent for the County of St. Paul, is in charge of road maintenance in the county. He explained the responsibilities of his department.

"We are in charge of road maintenance and repair in the County. Alberta Transport looks after primary highways, we look after the other roads. We also do most of our own road construction.

"Generally priority is placed on bus routes and other high traffic roads, then on gravel secondary roads.

"I get my information from councillors who notify me of the work they want done in their division."

The department will also do work without being notified by Councillors when they find that a road is in need of repair.

The County has eleven graders used for blading the gravel roads. There is no set system for determining the blading schedule.

"Graders try to do everything about once every two weeks, but this depends on the weather and the amount of use the roads receive."

There is no process in place for notifying residents along roads when work is to be done. Landowners become aware of work to be done of the County approaches them for permission to work on their land. The permission statement, called an easement, is often required when major work is to be done.

When road work requires entry into other government jurisdictions the relevant departments are notified. As an example, the provincial Environment Department is notified when major work is done on a road which crosses water.

There are no public postings of repair and maintenance schedules.

At this time of the year repair efforts focus on crack filling and patching on the paved roads.

SENIORS WEEK PROCLAIMED - Mayor Ed Buck has proclaimed June 4 to 10 as Seniors Week in Elk Point. Margaret Modin and Sid Holthe, both of the Pioneer Circle Society, were on hand for the signing.

Playschool winds up a funfilled and successful year

By Diane Pashulka
Playschool Instructor

It is so hard to believe, but, playschool is done for another year. I am going to miss all the children so much. It was a pleasure to have each and every one of them in playschool. They have given me great fulfillment throughout the year and we became fast friends. I am going to miss the little slip ups like calling me 'MOM' and the tremendous hugs.

We had great fun over the past couple of months and many cherished memories we made. The last couple of months were spent discussing spring and community helpers. We visited the CO-OP store, Dr. Adams' office and the Heritage Lodge. I want to extend a warm thanks for the great hospitality and special surprises. The tours were fun.

Constable John Dzerdz came to visit us one day and wowed us with his police siren and loud speaker. He gave us a lot of good tips on how to be safe. Thanks.

The Bonnyville Dental

Health Unit put on a tremendous puppet show and carnival for us about dental health. Mrs. Thompson came back to visit us one day and showed us how the proper way to brush our teeth. 'NEW TOOTH-BRUSHES' were a big hit.

Thank you to all those who enriched our program. We took a field trip on the school bus to the Ference farm. He gave us a tour of the farm and showed us his elk and buffalo. Our timing was perfect and we saw a brand new baby elk, he was only three days old. Mr.

Ference informed us that in probably another day or two we would not have been able to get near it. The kids had a great time and most thought that the baby elk was BAMBI. We had a wonderful time. Thanks to Lawrence and Steve Ference for taking the time out of their busy schedules to accommodate us.

We are going bowling for our year end parties and then we will enjoy the rest of the time at the park where we will have a picnic lunch. I think this will be a great experience for all of us and it will be a nice way to top off the year.

Saying goodbye is so hard to do and I am sure I will not be able to control the tears. I want to thank all the parents and everyone that has helped me throughout the first year. Sonia, Terri and Lynn, there is not enough words in the world to show how much I appreciate all you have done for me, thanks. I am going to miss everyone throughout the summer, but I am already preparing for next year.

GOODBYE AND HAVE A GREAT SUMMER!

RCMP gets "Summer Active"

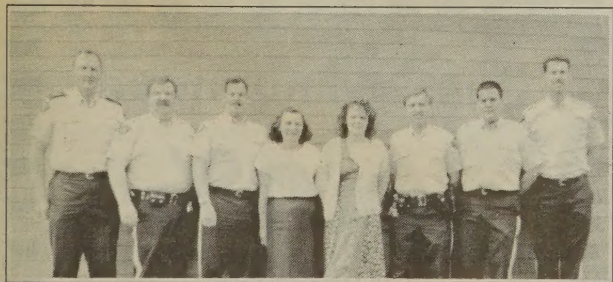

By Sgt. John Humphrey
Elk Point Detachment

Members and staff of the Elk Point RCMP detachment lacked up their sneakers to support Summer Active, a nation wide health initiative running May 15 to July 15, which promotes the many benefits of regular physical exercise and encourages everyone to make physical activity a way of life. Some of the benefits include an improved sense of well-being, more energy, less stress and a better quality of life.

To add a little fun to this for the kids, try to match up the sneakers in the bottom picture with the correct person in the top picture, and drop off your answers at the detachment to be eligible for one of three prizes of a package of RCMP POGS. Make sure to name the person and the corresponding sneaker number, and put your name and phone number on your entry.

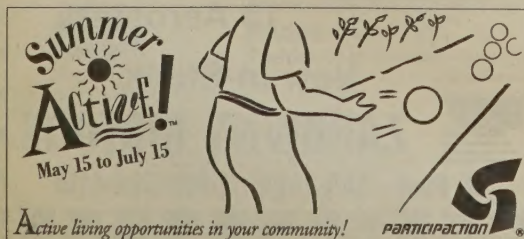

Good luck, and remember to keep active.

On "Your Own", Marcella Quinney sang Rita MacNeil's song of the same name as the grads and proms took their places at the front of the gymnasium.

Teacher Val Levasseur introduced the grade 9 promees and speeches were given by Noella Cardinal and Keith Faithful thanking staff and parents for their help in educating them.

"We in the grade nine class have the same goal in common with the grade 12 class — to graduate from grade 12," said Faithful.

Cardinal added that one of the important weapons that the grads need is education and passed on a piece of advice given to her by her mother — when you do something, do it right the first time so you don't have to do it again.

The first of two guest speakers for the evening, Travis Dugas, both inspired and entertained the students and the audience with his speech about overcoming obstacles and how he found peace in his life by going back to his roots as a native and learning what the Elders taught him.

Dugas said that when he was in grade nine he did not know he was an Indian, nor did he want to be one. At that point in time, his life was a mess, but he made the decision to move to Edmonton and take his senior high schooling at St. Joseph's School. He added that it was hard because in the beginning, he felt like he didn't belong. He continued with both his schooling and his sports (joining the football team), and graduated from grade 12 with several honors and awards.

Dugas said that over the past five years, he has begun living the Indian way and has been learning the teachings of the Elders.

"I love being with my people. Any opportunity I have to share about being an Indian I take it. A lot of times our people are not recognized, but these young people here are recognized...To me it's worth it to see young people succeed."

Dugas also made a point of shaking hands with the graduates and promees prior to leaving the stage after his speech, congratulating the young men and ladies on their accomplishments.

Each of the five graduands introduced themselves and their goals for the future.

St. Paul lawyer Dave Scott was the second guest speaker of the evening. His speech centered around his educational background and his work with the Tribal Chiefs Association. He suggested to the grads five activities that could help them to fly on their own:

- 1) Do what you like to do
- 2) Be able to listen, understand and appreciate other cultures, ideas and philosophies
- 3) Deal and work with yourselves and other people in a positive manner
- 4) Keep a balanced and positive outlook on life spiritually, mentally, physically and emotionally
- 5) Work hard and achieve your goals

Greetings and congratulations were also brought from Education Board representatives Ellie Jo Stanley and Francis Quinney and Band Council representative Susan Quinney.

Following entertainment by Marmie Quinney singing "Eagle When She Flies", presentations of gifts to grads and promees and by grads to their parents took place, and the Elders presented each of the grads with an eagle feather in keeping with tradition.

Prior to the close of the formal portion of Honor Night, the Viola May Faithful Memorial Award, (a plaque and $1,000 donation by local businesses) was awarded this year to Jolene Quinney. The award is presented annually to a student who overcomes obstacles by trying hard and, according to Master of Ceremonies Jim Purdy, "goes, goes, goes."

The evening concluded with the Honour Song (Rounddance) and a regular dance in the gymnasium.

What's news at the library?

National Film Board videos top our hit parade

The Friends of the Library had yet another successful bingo on the long weekend raising just over $2200. A special thanks goes out to all those who volunteered an evening out of the long weekend to support the library. Our next bingo is the first weekend in July.

At the top of our hit parade this week is a collection of videos from the National Film Board. There is something for everyone.

Anyone who has been a mother or has a mother might want to watch Motherland: Tales of Wonder. This documentary examines our society's myths and misconceptions of motherhood. Mothers' testimonies are intercut with the director's own candid home movies, as well as scenes from a number of Canadian educational films from the 1940s and 1950s.

Father and Son is a very personal look at the role of fathers. The director draws closely on his own relationship with his father and talks to other sons about their Fathers. something to watch this Father's Day.

For Generations to Come examines the modern Canadian family, wants and all, in all its manifestations. A good companion piece for the previous two videos.

Rights from the Heart is a collection of short animated films, most without any dialogue that explores the ideals proclaimed by the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child. Humorous and moving, this collection is a real treat for all ages.

An early Christmas present, The Christmas Gift is a collection of 8 films about everyone's favorite winter holiday. Charming, moving, humorous, this video is sure to put you in the Christmas spirit even if it is early summer.

More in keeping with the time of year, Baseball by Ken Burns is the companion audio-book to his acclaimed TBS series. This audio version is read by Burns and is perfect for those rain-delayed games or in the car on trips. It is a real treat for fans of the game.

Trekkies will want to browse the pages of The Ultimate Unauthorized Star Trek Quiz Book. Questions cover the original series, the movie, Next Generation and Deep Space Nine. Jam-packed with trivia. For instance: Did you know that Wesley Crusher's character on Next Generation was originally conceived as a girl by the name of Leslie?

Class of '95 bid farewell

There was much more to the F. G. Miller Class of '95 celebration than the afternoon exercises we told you about last week. This week we continue the coverage with a rundown on the banquet.

Another former classmate, Dallas Lou, who attended school here during junior high, was the banquet MC. Rev. John McGregor offered the blessing before the fine meal was served.

School Board Chairman Ray Danyluk opened the after-dinner proceedings with a toast to the grads, and told them they were "hard to recognize today. I'm used to seeing them in hockey, basketball and volleyball uniforms." He saluted them for their hard work over the past 13 years, and urged them to "mold that future very carefully." Jonathan Kadutski responded to the toast on behalf of the grads.

Cody Kurek told the parents, "here we are - and it's all thanks to you. See what a good job you have done? All that worrying was worth it, wasn't it?"

Dee Pankiw, replying to the toast to the parents, acknowledged that it had been worth it, and said that the Class of '95 was a special group "who always knew what they wanted to do, and have gone out and done it."

Tammy Zacharuk toasted the teachers. "It's hard to believe that the time has come to say goodbye... you taught us to achieve our goals, and that we could do anything if we put our minds to it." Leonard Franko replied with an original poem, and added that the grads "must have something to do, someone to love, and something to hope for" to find success in life.

Grade 11 students Jill West and Lee Kadutski bid the senior class farewell, and commented that "we don't know what life would have been like without them," then added wishes that they will fulfill their hopes and dreams.

Guest speaker was Mayor Ed Buck, who is also the Town's representative on the St. Paul Regional School Board #1. He thanked the proud parents for their efforts, and commented that "the teachers who moulded their futures seem as excited as the grads." He recalled his own children's graduations as proud and happy occasions, and said it makes him proud to hear people mention that they have graduated from F. G. Miller High. Two of his children were the valedictorians for their class, while "the other one was an average student - and we're all working for him."

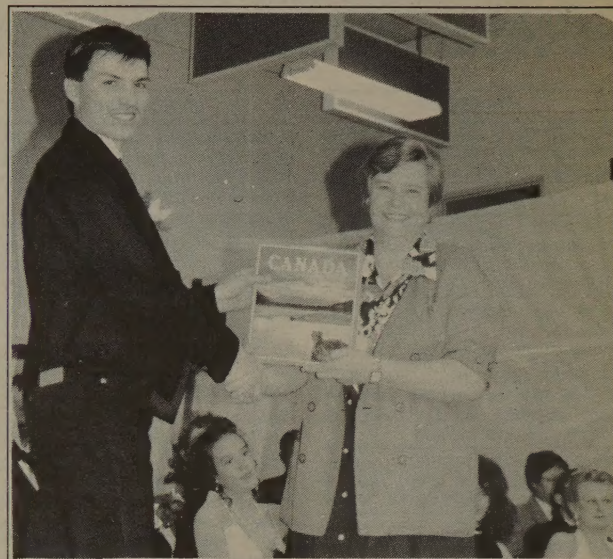

Buck noted that this was a landmark year, which started with the school as part of the old County system, and ended as part of the new division. "When I first became a school trustee, I had a dream of the school jurisdiction becoming independent. This is a dream realized," he noted, referring to the class theme, "To Dream Is The Future - The Future Is What We Hold In Our Hands."

"Dreams happen faster than you realize," he continued, noting that "One of these grads could be up here in a few years, just as nervous as I am." He told the class that there are many fields for them to enter as they help build the future. "The future is now in your capable hands."

Dr. K. C. Miller was a special guest at the ceremonies, and added his congratulations to the Class of '95, commenting that the afternoon had been most impressive. "The manner of the proceedings demonstrated maturity and thoughtfulness." His father, Dr. F. G. Miller, after whom the school was named, "would be very proud of all of you, and would encourage you to achieve to the best of your ability."

The evening continued with a dance, with Bob Poitras providing the DJ music.

CITIZENSHIP AWARD - was presented to Cody Kurek by Member of Parliament Deborah Grey at the afternoon ceremonies.

HELPING TO SAY GOODBYE - Jaime Ballas (left) and Melanie Ference serenaded their classmates with "How Can I Help You Say Goodbye?"

And More!

MEMORIES OF SCHOOL YEARS - were recounted by Travis Pankiw, in his original song, "Yesterday's Memories," with which he saluted his classmates.

"I Want To Be A Millionaire" Program receives regional support, but still requires mentors

Communities in the St. Paul/Smoky Lake region are showing their support for the program by way of time and expertise donated in-kind and financial sponsorship. To date, community support is being generously provided by the Caisse Populaire St. Paul Credit Union with a donation in-kind of expertise and time. Ronald O. Boisvert, Manager Business Development will be conducting a workshop on Record Keeping for the successful applicants of the program. Community financial support is also generously being provided by R. Raymond Desjardins, Chartered Accountant in St. Paul, Sturgeon Welding in Ashmont and the Treasury Branch in Smoky Lake.

The program still requires mentors. Mentors are there to help the student by assisting, encouraging and motivating; but more so to reinforce aspirations by connecting youth to resources that can enhance success. In fact, the Millionaire Program is very open about mentors being knowledgeable connectors more so than all-knowing experts. No mentor is assigned to a student without parent approval. The program prefers to exemplify the willingness of people to seek help and the network building that results rather to impart an impression that because you're in business you should be able to do it all. If you are interested in becoming a mentor, contact either Anne Himschoot or Wendy Cherniwchan of St. Paul/Smoky Lake Business and Community Development Corporation at 645-5782 or 656-2110.
